COD IS LOVE AND NOTHING ELSE.

PRAISE THE LORD.

LETTER FROM GEORGE O. BARNES

117 INTENDENCIA ST., PENSACOLA, FLA.
MARCH 22, 1888.

DEAR INTERIOR:—Every phase of social life can be met with here. One of them is illustrated by the following, clipped from one of last week's daily issues. In its unique simplicity and straightforwardness, I don't know that it can be surpassed. I have not heard whether "Dominique" has slapped "Santo" yet. Let us hope they made friends. The foreign flavor of the whole transaction is unmistakable. What Anglo-Saxon-Israelite would ever go at an opponent in this style?

But here is the document:

Notice.

While attending to my lawful business on the wharf last Saturday morning, Santo Carriagno, an oyster dealer, slipped up behind me and, without a word or any provocation from me, pushed me overboard and then ran away like a coward. Now if the said Santo Carriagno will meet me in a fair fight, without weapons, the best man wins and all will be right; if he will not do this or apologize to me I intend to slap him in the face whenever and wherever I meet him.

DOMINIQUE MATTEL,
Oyster Dealer, Nos. 108 and 110 South Tarragon street.

It takes all sorts of people to make a world, don't it?

Our dear Capt. Petterson took us down the Bay in a sail boat to his villa, a few days ago, and the trip was a new enchantment for us all. To pull out into this glorious harbor and wind in and out among the shipping at anchor, each vessel with a raft of logs about it, from which it is taking in cargo, is an invigorating sight to behold. There are not wharves enough to accommodate the multiplied keels; and as lumber is the one thing exported, that can be taken in more handily, in fair weather, out in the Bay than nearer shore.

You approach a lumber ship taking in cargo, and it stares at you out of two great square eyes, near the water, on either side of the bow. These are sections of the solid structure of the ship, that can be removed and put back, at pleasure. They are arranged for, in the construction of the vessel, and are, at a guess, about three feet square. Through these apertures the long sticks of timber are thrust and easily stowed within. This greatly facilitates the vessel's lading, and saves the hoisting over the sides and putting down hatchways, that has to be done in stowing cargo; in iron steamers, for example, where these square openings could not well be made.

Most sailing vessels have four of these square eyes in front; and when the lower tier gets too near the water line, by the sinking of the vessel's hull from the weight of cargo, these two are fastened up; caulked; made perfectly secure, and the rest of the load taken in at the "second story" windows. These, too, are shut up when there is no more lading to do, and off goes the graceful creature, with white, outspread wings, bearing her stowed-up treasure to other climes.

Beautiful is the panoramic glory of this exquisite sheet of water. The wind was not in our favor, and the stout colored oarsmen propelled our little bark as we slowly crept down the graceful beach, for the mile and a half that separates the captain's house from the city's center. The girls sang their little Hindustani songs, greatly to the admiration of our boatmen. A darkey's natural expression of delight is a good, hearty laugh. Deny him that, and you obliterate him. It was ludicrous to behold our oarsmen. They nervously choked to suppress the merriment that bubbled up from the depths of their musical natures. It was the "unknown tongue" that "got" them.

By and by we reached the mouth of the Bayou Chico, where the captain's "possessions lie." We sent back our borrowed sail boat and got into the captain's own, for our further voyage up the bay-let, first halting on his private pier to eat as many oysters as we wanted; the bivalves being simply drawn up in a rake from a bed of them, all around the pier, where they had been planted as "youngsters," were now fine fat fellows, and some of them prodigious.

The captain's beautiful sail boat he built himself—for he is a perfect nautical genius—and he can say he planned her; cut out every timber; planed every board; fastened every bolt; drove every nail; painted and fitted her out, complete. She sits on the water like a duck and is a "daisy."

Beside his boat-house I saw a stout ship's yawl, tied up, that sat sturdily on the water, riding with immense buoyancy, the sort of a craft one would like to be in, with a high sea running. I asked the captain what she was.

"That boat has a history," he answered. "She saved 14 men from going to the bottom. She belonged to a British barque that was wrecked in the Gulf. For four days they were out in this boat, in the open sea, and at last were picked up by a passing vessel, that ran across their track. It was in my power to help them when they landed," he modestly added, without telling us the particulars of all he would do for a shipwrecked crew. Our imagination supplied the details, knowing him as we do, the dear open-hearted, open-handed sailor that he is. "Well," he went on, "when they sailed for home the captain came to me and said: 'We can't repay you for your kindness and you don't want it; but we all have agreed that we want you to keep the good boat that saved us, to remember us by.'"

With what respect, after this little talk, I looked upon the stout yawl and thought of the life saving it had done. It nodded gently at me, with rise and fall of the tiny wavelets that beat against the pier, as if to say, "Yes! I feel a little proud of that job. It makes me feel so good to think of it, tied up by the nose, to this wharf, as I have to be; and I long to be out again, mounting the 'white caps' and saving more lives." It looked the Briton it was, every inch, of every sturdy timber in its stout frame; every strong plank that lined her length and breadth, as if bidding defiance to wind and wave.

Oysters bolted, we embarked on the "Ernest James" (the captain's two boys give a name to his boat) and our colored oarsmen quickly rowed us up Chico Bay.

What a lovely sheet of salt water it is; varying from a quarter to a mile in width; and two miles inland, branching right and left in dumpy bits of river, running up a couple of miles each way till they head in springs, or a tiny creek of fresh water. Fine depth of water, from 14 feet in the deeper parts to 5 or 6 nearer shore. Beach shelving gradually, for perfect bathing; banks with every variety of beautiful outline; here a bold bit of bluff; there a fine picturesque point jutting out sharply into the bay; pine forest fringing the whole wavy margin and stretching back into the interior; fish of the finest varieties fairly swarming; oysters clinging in native profusion to every log and pile, and growing rapidly if planted in beds, under the most favoring circumstances; crabs in abundance also; glorious stretches for a sail boat to manoeuvre in; in short, one of the most delightfully attractive bits of water I have met in much travel. All this only 13 miles from Pensacola court-house; and is in the "city limits" on paper.

We rowed up to the head of the right arm of the bay and there the good captain had carriages waiting to drive us back to town.

We shall not soon forget this enchanting trip. The reason Pensacola has, thus far, remained unknown, is that she has been cut off practically from her own country by lack of railroad communication; and her energy has been expended in cultivating her foreign trade in lumber. Always, in winter, her incomparable harbor has been crowded with shipping from many countries; but all in search of one thing—the superb and cheap yellow pine lumber that the Florida forests yield in almost inexhaustible quantity. The whole life of the city was a "stevedore" one. To victual, supply and load these foreign vessels was the entire ambition of Pensacolians.

But a new era is dawning on her business men. A branch railroad put them en rapport with the country north of them. The possibilities of other industries find a congenial home in this favorable site and healthy locality are just looming up before hitherto short-sighted optics; and the Rip Van Winkle slumber of this queenly city is about broken. The first who recognizes the new era will make the fortunes. The boom is bound to come, indeed is almost begun. Its basis:

1. Pensacola is the only real first-class seaport and safe harbor on the Gulf Coast.

2. It is the nearest point to the great growing South American trade.

3. It is on the healthiest spots, summer and winter, on the continent. Climate far preferable to the soft and balmy eastern coast of Florida—lovely as that is.

4. The navy yard is already here and the moment Northern jealousy, now on its "last legs," will admit, it will spring, with a bound, to the place of a first-class ship builder. The "U. S. Navy" will not always be the shadowy myth it is. "Britannia rules the waves," I know, but Columbia is bound to be 2d best in the near future.

5. The lumber is inexhaustible.

6. The factories for the supply of the South American trade will never find a better locality than this; and once a railway to Memphis is built, the cotton will pour into this port for European shipment.

7. No finer site for a grand city of many hundreds of thousands can be found; pure water, lovely climate; romantic surroundings and land and sea advantages taken into comparison and consideration.

8. The fisheries are, for abundance and variety, unsurpassed. Such a beautiful assortment of game fish it would be hard to find. Oysters grow to everything on which a shell can be attached.

But I must pull up, or you will think I am slightly "enthused" on Pensacola. I believe I am, but the puff is a "labor of love." I'm not paid for it.

Every breath of salt air has new life and vigor in it for us all.

Meeting quite a success. Praise the LORD!

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

MT. SALEM.

—Rev. Allen Butt requests us to state that he will preach at the Baptist church in Middleburg next Sunday.

—Men can be seen huddled up around here at present, but it is not because they are cold. It is Davison's road law.

—Young man, you will lose your money if you do not buy your suit from W. T. Richards & Co. They now have on hand $1,800 worth of clothing.

—Considerable traffic in sheep and lambs is going on here at present and some farmers are refusing 10 cents per pound for their 65-pound lambs to be delivered at once.

—Mrs. Cox, a pension agent in this section, is sick and Mr. E. Tarrant is attending to her business for the present. East is a boss hand at such business. Mr. M. L. Richards is going to Woodbine to-day on business.

—We regret to learn that Mr. Wm. Lipe, who runs a hack from Liberty to Yosemite, has not yet belied his mules. After so ably explaining the advantage and importance of those bells to Senator Rigney and securing a perfect right to that gentleman, who caused a special act to be passed by the legislature therefor, in perhaps a single day at a cost not exceeding $5,000, we cannot see why he does not put them on and let us hear their melodious jingling daily. Perhaps he is waiting for money to be appropriated to buy the bells and straps, but if this is the case we think some friend should advise him not to impose on good nature.

Trixie, the Romp Heiress.

The good-sized audience at the Opera House last night was delighted with the pleasing rendition of "Trixie, the Romp Heiress," by Miss Jessie Bonstelle and her excellent company. The play is a pleasing romance of a young girl, who inherits a fortune and gains a husband—about the same old story, but nicely told. The play introduces pretty songs, dances, and a pleasing run of specialties by accomplished artists. The cast is good throughout, each person in it being a star in his or her part, and as a whole the entertainment is full of fun and does what the author evidently intended—keeps the audience in the utmost good humor. As Beatrix May, called "Trixie," Miss Jessie Bonstelle is charming. She is only 16 years old and certainly has a bright future before her; indeed she is far better than half the actresses who have scored great successes and captured the hearts of city audiences. She may well be called the "fascinating little favorite." As Bob Linwood, the artist, Mr. Edwin Hanford proved himself equal to the occasion, and won for himself great favor. Mr. J. A. LeBarge captured his audience by his musical specialties, while Tony West, the "coon," was a general favorite. The rest of the cast was good.—(Pern. Ind., Evening Journal.)

As an antidote for a consumptive tendency it is claimed that cream acts like a charm, and serves all the purposes intended to be served by cod liver oil, with much greater certainty and effect. Besides persons consumptively inclined, those with feeble digestions, aged people and those inclined to chilliness and cold extremities are especially benefited by a liberal use of sweet cream.

It has now been decided in the courts of six different States that the men who precipitate a strike and cause a loss to a contractor can be held liable for damages. The precipitators are, however, the chaps who always wriggle out of any responsibility and who live in clover while the workmen are reduced to starvation.

A receipt for a wash or any other preparation for the hair that will make it curl: Take borax 2 ounces, gum arabic 1 drachm, add hot water (not boiling); stir, and as soon as the ingredients are dissolved, add 3 tablespoonfuls of strong spirits of camphor. On retiring wet the head with the above liquid.

Patti has made her "last appearance" 27 times, her "positively last appearance" nine times, has "permanently retired from the stage" seven times, has "retired to spend her days in her castle" three times and is now getting ready to take another whack at the public and retire again.

For sale by A. R. Penny, Stanford.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Go to F. L. Thompson's for your clothing.

—Pneumonia is quite prevalent throughout the county.

—Frank Moore's 18-month-old child died of diphtheria Saturday.

—Mrs. E. J. Evans and daughters arrived from Zanesville Wednesday.

—Jack Stakes is the proud father of twins and Harve Mink a 14-lb. boy.

—Thompson is selling those nobby suits rapidly. Call early for a bargain.

—W. A. Owens sold to George Denny a tract of coal land on Round Stone for $800.

—The late rains have made a tide for the log and timber men and they are taking advantage of it.

—The Somerset and Level Green mails were water-bound and arrived one day late here over the star route.

—We are told that W. L. Martin, agt. for the K. C. road at Livingston, will be married to Miss Maggie Quinn Thursday.

—S. G. Fish, of Iowa Point, Kansas, formerly a citizen of this county, writes that his wife died last week, after a short illness.

—Dan Quinn, while working in the mines at Livingston a few days since, had some salt to fall on him, seriously injuring his back.

—The old Boone's Fork school district that was abolished when Brodhead was incorporated, has been re-established by the county superintendent. The district will be the same as it formerly was, except that it does not include Brodhead limits.

—Meshack Gentry is back from Bell county on a visit. T. N. Roberts has returned to Barboursville. E. M. Denny and J. N. Brown, of Level Green, were in town Tuesday. Conductor Chas. Turner was out the line one day this week. Judge Fish is but little better. Jno. Proctor is improving some.

—One of the pathetic incidents connected with the death of Mrs. J. E. Allen was the arrival here Tuesday, one day after the burial, of an only daughter, who lives at Danville, coming to see her mother. She had not heard of her parent's death and when told of it on her arrival, her intense grief was pitiful to behold.

—Good Advice:—"Don't waste your time talking spitefully to the station agent, when you find that you have missed your train. Buy a pint of peanuts and scatter the shells all over the station floor. That is about the only way in which you can get even with the company. If this does not attract attention, then spit tobacco juice on the stove, floor and walls. It puts everybody in a good humor."

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

—The Legislature has passed a bill repealing the acts prohibiting the sale of liquor in Muhlenberg county.

—Gov. Buckner sent in nine more vetoes this week. He seems to be the only man at Frankfort with a level head.

—Representative Cochrane, of Spencer, has offered a bill fixing the salary of the State Treasurer at $4,000 per annum, payable in monthly installments.

—Demagogue Eakin's bill was passed in the House requiring all goods made by convict labor to be marked in some place easily seen with the words "convict made."

—The judiciary committee decided that the laborers' lien bill was vetoed by the governor too late, and it is now a law. It gives them a prior lien for their wages on railroads, canals and all public buildings.

—Senator Harris introduced a bill providing that the Governor and Secretary of State shall biennially select one or more chartered National banks of the State, which shall be the depositories of the public moneys of the State for two years from the 1st of January next succeeding such selection, but the Governor and Secretary of State shall have power to change these depositories at any time.

A man may build his house of paper, and put in paper "window glass," eat his dinner from paper plates, fill his stomach—indigestion don't count—with paper pulp, blow his nose with a paper handkerchief, buy his wife a paper piano or a paper organ, and now he may go to his grave in a paper coffin. The coffin may be paid for with a piece of paper, and his death published on another piece.

Don't waste your time talking spitefully to the station agent when you find that you have missed your train. Buy a pint of peanuts and scatter the shells all over the station floor. That is about the only way in which you can get even with the company.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of the Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and now on my third bottle and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jesse Middlewert, Ducatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in the best of health." Sample bottles free at A. R. Penny's drug store.

THE FLORENCE

WASHING MACHINE

I have bought the right to sell the Florence Washing Machine and am now prepared to furnish all who may wish to save their clothes from the rubbing and tearing incident to the old process of washing. Take one and try it and be convinced. I'll not worry you about buying unless you are fully satisfied as to its merits. The undersigned have purchased the Florence Washing machine and after a thorough trial, we take pleasure in adding our testimony to its worth, and without hesitation pronounce it a success in every particular, doing all that is claimed for it: Wm. Daugherty, J. W. Wallace, Dr. Bourne, Mrs. S. P. Salter, A. C. Sine, Bill Perkins, Lewis Dudderar, J. E. Lynn, L. L. Dawson, C. Vandy, Mrs. Amanda Peak, George Peyton, Alex. Wolleclaw, C. C. Fields, Albert Camden, Sam Raines, R. E. Barrow, A. M. Feland and many more. M. F. ELKIN, Headquarters at S. S. Myers' store.

W. P. WALTON.

SEVERAL persons who really ought to have better sense, have said to us, "If Gov. Buckner is the watchful man you give him credit for being, why didn't he veto Davison's road bill?" It is not the governor's prerogative to veto bills unless there are constitutional objections to them or they militate against the public good. There is nothing unconstitutional in the road bill as passed and the governor did not know but what every man woman and child, to say nothing of their sisters and their cousins and their aunts, were howling for it to become a law. No, dear, ignorant friends, no blame whatever can be laid on Gov. Buckner. The blame is solely and entirely on the individual who, without consulting anybody but his master, Bradley, had the bill passed against reason and against sense.

WM. DORSEIMER, ex-lieutenant governor of New York, when Tilden was governor, and at the time of his death editor of the New York Star, died suddenly in Savannah, Ga., Tuesday of pneumonia. He and his wife left their home several days ago, at which time he was in perfect health, but he took cold, which rapidly developed into the disease that killed him. He held many offices of trust and honor during his life of 56 years, including Congress, U. S. District Attorney for New York and others nearly as important. He was a strong supporter of Cleveland's administration and his loss will be felt by the President in the Empire State.

It begins to look like Sherman is not such a favorite son of Ohio after all. He indicated his choice for delegates to the convention from the 8th district, but two other men were chosen, one an old enemy, the other an out-and-out Blaine man. Perhaps Gen. Landrum is wrong after all about the big and warm heart that beats in Sherman's bosom and that he really is the cold, unsympathetic individual he has been taken to be. At least some of his home folks seem to incline to the little belief.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says: "There is a striking probability that the investigation ordered of the accounts of the absconding Treasurer of Kentucky will prove a farce." That would no doubt be the result of such an investigation in Ohio if the defaulter was a republican with the party in power republican. But nothing less than a sweeping examination, it matters not whom it will hurt, will satisfy honest Kentucky democrats and this they intend to have.

BRO. HULL, poor fellow, has perhaps suffered from both and has a right to this wall: "Bro. Barnes in the Interior Journal a few days ago pronounced an eulogy on the mule, and now the editor of that paper is defending the mother-in-law. Notwithstanding such able and influential advocates, however, it is difficult to believe that either of these members of the society is any better than they have been painted."

RECENTLY Judge Toney, of Louisville, decided that the wages of a man with a family were exempt from garnishee, even for necessities furnished. Judge Fields, of the same city, holds, however, that "both the letter and the spirit of the statute provide that wages should be liable to debts created for food, raiment or house-rent for the family," otherwise poor men would be unable to obtain credit at all.

JUDGES G. SHARP has been appointed temporary treasurer of Kentucky by Gov. Buckner and has accepted. A bond of $100,000 was required. Judge Sharp is chairman of the State Central Committee and county judge of Fayette. His countenances protest against a body against his resigning the latter office for any other in the gift of anybody, a fact which shows how highly they esteem him.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY, the old gal whom nature made a mistake in not making a man, declared in her speech opening the Women's Convention at Washington, that if suffrage was not granted "the women will strike hands with labor, with socialists, with anarchists, and you will have the scenes of the revolution of France reenacted over again in this republic." Let her go Gallagher.

This internal weather has made many converts to good Bro. Barnes' doctrine that the devil is the author of it, but none more outspoken than Bro. Logan, of the Louisville Times, who henceforth and hereafter will advocate it with all the "irrepressibility of the irrepressible young man."

The whole State is howling because Col. Johnston was permitted to prevent the investigating committee to examine Tate's papers, &c., in the Treasury. The colonel ought to have been shoved aside. There is no time now for shenanigans.

The movement in land at Kansas City was never so great as at present. The whole bluff is about to slide in and demolish the ambitious little city, which has striven so hard to work up a boom.

CONGRESS is investigating the question of lard adulteration, which is said to be made of almost anything except hog fat. A retired pork packer of St. Louis testified before the committee that lard is manufactured from diseased hogs, entrails, hoofs and hair and a chemical analysis of some of Armour's shows 15 per cent. of stearine and only 25 per cent. of good lard. Another firm's showed 35 per cent. of water and the balance made up largely of cotton seed oil and other grease. The developments have caused the makers to squirm and the consumers to howl for vengeance.

THE woods of the 11th District are full of possible candidates to redeem it from Findley away. Gen. Wolford has announced himself, Gen. Hindman is thinking about doing so and so is another Adair man. They also say that O. H. Waddle, of Somerset, is cogitating whether to run or not to run. We would not be surprised if he would not be the most available man the democrats could select. He is a sharp fellow, a fine mixer and a good orator, and would likely come nearer carrying Pulaski than any other democrat.

COL. A. M. SWOPE, in a letter to the Maysville Republican, says he is uncompromisingly for Sherman and Hawley. This too in face of the fact that Brer O'Bradley wants the second place on the ticket. On the other hand Judge Denny who erstwhile did not take any stock whatever in Bradley is for him for vice-president first, last and all the time and made a speech at Lexington in his favor. The crowd seemed to be with Swope, however, for he was chosen over Denny for district delegate.

Not a day passes over his honored white head which does not demonstrate that the election of Simon Bolivar Buckner to be governor of Kentucky was the proudest act ever done by a grateful constituency. He is a man all over and the very one to be at the head of affairs during these troublous times. Next to Grover Cleveland we regard him as the grandest man of his day.

GEN. HEWITT demands a full and complete investigation of the affairs of the auditor's office and it ought to be ordered. Serious charges have been made against him and it is due both to him and the party that they either be disproved or verified. We do not believe anything will be found wrong, but it is time the light was turned on upon all the offices.

The impeachment trial of "Honest" Dick Tate was held yesterday. Of course it was a merely formal affair, with the verdict settled in advance. It is a pity this could not have been done before the Canada act was accomplished.

NEWS CONDENSED.

—Logan McKee, chairman of the Boyle county republican committee, has called a mass convention of the republicans of the county for Saturday next at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of electing 13 delegates to the State and district conventions which meet in Louisville May 24.

—Mrs. Maria Watson, of Frankfort, died Tuesday morning of pneumonia at the residence of her sister, Mrs. C. C. Young, of this place. Her death was unexpected as she was not thought to be seriously ill. The remains were taken to Frankfort Wednesday morning. Mrs. Watson was a daughter of the late John J. Crittenden.

—Of all the Yankee born plans of make money the "memorial card" dodge is the most disgusting. Several persons in this vicinity who have recently lost friends by death, have received from a firm in Merchantsville, N. J., a black enameled card the size of a cabinet photograph containing the name of the deceased slightly misspelled or with an initial that does not belong to it together with a hackneyed verse beginning "Asleep in Jesus' blessed sleep," &c. An accompanying card commencing "Dear Friend" tells the person addressed that the firm learns that their "Dear Friend" has lately lost a beloved one; that the card is sent for inspection and that should there be any mistake in the printing it may be returned when the mistake will be gladly rectified. Further on the "Dear Friend" is told "Remember this memorial card is sent to you for inspection; you are under no obligation whatever to keep it. All we ask is that you either return the card or send us 25 cents in payment of same." Of course the name is misspelled purposely with the expectation that an order will be sent with correction, &c. The scheme is a sickening one and in this latitude at least will only excite disgust.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The martins have come and winter is surely gone.

—Powers & Co. are filling up their store-house with goods.

—Mrs. Mary Hay, of Richmond, is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. H. Fox.

—A. H. Rice will remove his stock of hardware to E. W. Harris' old stand.

—Letcher Owsley is at home on a visit from the Annapolis Naval Academy.

—E. W. Lillard bought of his brother E. C. Lillard, of Anderson, a fine horse for $255.

—One of our citizens was given a black eye on Monday for calling for "hen fruit" at a certain store in town.

—L. F. Hubble, of Birmingham, is at Dr. W. S. O'Neal's. He looks like the southern climate agrees with him.

—Uncle Jordan Perkins, an aged citizen of this county, is ill, and fears are entertained that he may not recover.

—J. Joseph has gone to Cincinnati to buy his spring goods. John Woodcock and family have returned from Somerset.

—W. H. Kinnaird is in Louisville.

—Miss Margaret Stuart, of Iowa, who has been sick at the home of her brother-in-law, J. B. Johnston, suffered a relapse Wednesday night and at this writing, Thursday morning, is not expected to live.

—E. W. Morrow, of this city, drew the watch which was raffled at Stanford. It is a singular coincidence that Mr. Waters should have drawn the machine given away here by the News, being a newspaper man, and Mr. Morrow the watch, being himself in the jewelry business.

—Ticket No. 119 drew the $55 machine given away by the Central News on Monday. I learn that the lucky man is Mr. Waters, of your city, and of the Interior Journal. It is now in order for the said Interior Journal to give away a machine and let the editor of the News or some of his force draw it.

—Rev. E. E. Ervin, who has been pastor of the Paint Lick Presbyterian church for four years past, has accepted a call from a church at Shelby, N. C. His reason for going is on account of his health. He takes with him the love of his congregation and the good wishes of all who knew him. There is no better man than Mr. Ervin, and the church at Paint Lick will find it difficult to fill his place.

—Germany has suffered $50,000,000 damages by the floods. Seventy-five cities are inundated.

—Hundreds of seals are in the harbor at Plymouth, Mass. They are fearless and will allow boats to approach within easy gunshot. Seal-skin cloaks may be cheap next season.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Mrs. D. C. Payne is on the sick list.

—Mr. J. F. Holdam's handsome new hearse has arrived.

—A number of our citizens have been summoned to appear before the grand jury to-day, Wednesday.

—About the middle of next month the teachers and pupils in the College will give an entertainment in the College Hall.

—Brother Hopper was called home on last Thursday to preach a funeral and was thus prevented from preaching for us the entire week.

—Mr. George W. James is no better, in fact is not as well as usual at this writing. J. F. Holdam and Misses Louana and Bertie James visited Stanford Tuesday last.

—Dr. Johnstone, of Danville, and Dr. Peyton, of Stanford, were here one day last week to see Dr. Doores' patients. Mrs. W. F. Kennedy and Mr. George W. James. Both fully approved of Dr. D's treatment and did not suggest a single change in either case.

—Miss Ida Pettus and Mr. Russell Dillion have been visiting Mrs. Joe Coffey, in Danville. Mr. W. T. Stephenson and wife have returned from Lexington, where they went to see their son, Dr. E. T. Stephenson.

—Miss Sarah E. Randall lectured at the Christian church last Tuesday night, preparatory to organizing a Women's Christian Temperance Union here. To-day, Wednesday, they will meet again for the purpose of organizing the society. Rev. Mr. Van Noys and wife are with Miss Randall.

—We are once more able to go about if only the weather would permit, and as we have not been on the streets of C. O. since the 16th of last December, we are getting slightly impatient to be there again. Oh! how we long for the warm, bright days of spring to come. Through the columns of the Interior we desire to thank our numerous friends for the many kindnesses bestowed upon us during our long sickness. For each and every act we are sincerely grateful. To Dr. Doores, our physician, we are particularly grateful for his untiring attention and kindness. May the gracious God in heaven shower his choicest blessings upon each and every one of you, my good friends.

Rules for Leap-Year Parties.

1. Ladies will call for the gentlemen promptly at 8 o'clock. Those who keep their escorts waiting, and are consequently late at the party, will be treated for the remainder of the evening as wallflowers. 2. The guests will be expected to behave in the most lady-like manner. 3. Gentlemen are to bring to the ball a fan, a corsage bouquet, and smelling salts. 4. The gentlemen whose bouquet is not crushed in the first dance will be a witness to the fact that he has been held with propriety. 5. No gentleman shall cross the floor without a lady attendant. 6. If a gentleman goes for a glass of water unattended by a lady the floor managers will at once declare him out of order, and compel him to be seated. 7. Gents are expected to be languid, to drop their handkerchiefs as often as possible, make frequent calls for water, and at supper give the ladies no time for eating. 8. The ladies who have been snubbed at dances heretofore will claim the greatest number of dances, and those who have been active society belles will let the gentlemen severely alone.

Read some of the press comments on the Trixie troupe, which plays here next Monday night.

Mr. Hanford is an artist of great merit, and plays his part with vim and dash; his singing and dancing captivates his audience.—[Washington Critic.

Aside from possessing wonderful versatility as an actress Miss Jessie Bonstelle is an accomplished musician and dancer.—[Evening Mail (Ionia, Mich.)

Miss Jessie possesses marvelous talent, her character acting, her dancing and her musical genius being remarkably well done.—[N. N. Dramatic News.

The musical comedy, "Trixie," gave entire satisfaction to a crowded house on Monday evening. Miss Bonstelle is a charming little soubrette, and is supported by an excellent company.—[Sidney, O., Democrat.

When they set out to lie in North Carolina they make no bones of it. Here's a sample story of the pulling of the tooth of a 12-year-old boy of the tarheel State: "The extraction of the tooth was a difficult operation. The dentist tried 13 times before he succeeded, and when he did pull it out he found it to be just six inches and a quarter long. The cavity extended through to the top of the head, the tooth actually bringing some of the hair. The end had the appearance of having been brained on the top of the head."—[N. Y. Sun.

The latest thing reported in "trusts" is a "diamond trust." This will make a newspaper editor howl more than ever. It is about as much as they can do to keep their families supplied with diamonds at present prices.

HUBBLE.

—Jno. Williams lost his overcoat last week and found it in a straw stack near by.

—Our town has at last become the centre of attraction for all kinds of traffic.

—Mrs. Geo. P. Bright is on the sick list. Mrs. Frank Rigney and son are convalescing.

—The roll was called Tuesday and about all the tobacco club was present and they proceeded to business.

—Renetown brass band gave us some good music Saturday night. About 200 people were present and our merchants had long, pleasing faces.

—Several of our boys were summoned before the grand jury this week. It is said that they were called in about some talking that was said to have been done in church by some of our young men. Now it is very wrong for any one to talk or laugh during preaching, but it is not a good plan of prosecution for any one to sit still and send in other names as witnesses against offending parties. Why not go forward yourself and show to the parties that the love of good morals is the prompting motive?

—SPECIAL NOTICE.

In offering the services of this highly bred young stallion to the public I feel assured that those having first-class mares will appreciate him, not only as a trotter himself, but as a sire whose breeding ranks him among the foremost in the land.

As the public is well informed, at a 4-year-old he started in several closely contested races, and conclusively in each case that he is a game, reliable, head-headed race horse. At Latonia he started against Jack Haynes, Oscar B. and others, winning easily in three straight heats; time, 2:25, 2:25, 2:27. At Mayville, Ky., with Eagle Bird as a competitor, what was apparently a dead heat, was trotted in the remarkably fast time of 2:30.

His stud service is limited to 40 approve mares.
